

National Disclosure Authority Forms Partnership With TerraPass

Environmentally Conscious Company Is Proactive in Its Efforts to Help Fight Global Warming

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 25 -- National Disclosure Authority (NDA), a Santa Monica, CA-based, independent hazard disclosure company, has formed a partnership with TerraPass, an innovative company that allows individuals and families to join the growing market for carbon emissions credits. NDA's leaders, experienced disclosure experts, are committed to environmental responsibility.

The new partnership creates a fitting synergy, between two companies, joined together to support consumers' growing interest in curbing global warming. Through a link to TerraPass on the NDA website, NDA can offer its clients who order disclosure reports the opportunity to offset their carbon emissions and balance the climate impact of their new homes. TerraPass makes this possible by funding clean energy and efficiency projects that reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

"NDA is very pleased to be associated with TerraPass, a well known and reputable company that will help NDA fulfill our mission to restore and protect the natural environment," said NDA CEO and founder Sergio Siderman. "We are empowered to offer our clients a simple, efficient way to get directly involved in combating global warming by buying TerraPass' verified reductions in greenhouse gas emissions," he added.

TerraPass has sold more than 75,000 TerraPasses, resulting in the reduction of over 420 million pounds of carbon dioxide emissions. "TerraPass members are proving everyday that each of us has the power to demonstrate environmental leadership and take responsibility for climate change," said TerraPass Founder and Chief Environmental Officer Tom Arnold. "NDA's partnership with TerraPass provides an innovative way for its clients to take action to stop global warming.

A 100% employee-owned corporation, NDA is dedicated to the preservation and restoration of the environment on behalf of today's and future generations, and the NDA "Green Team" practices green in all aspects of its activities. Every time a client orders a paperless report, NDA plants a baby tree. Each month, NDA employees and friends in the real estate community gather to plant trees on NDA's "Green Day."

About National Disclosure Authority (NDA)

About TerraPass

Launched in 2004, TerraPass is the leading consumer retailer and marketer of greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction programs. Over 75,000 TerraPasses have been sold to individuals, families and businesses to balance out the global warming impact of their flying, driving and home energy use. Together, TerraPass customers have reduced more than 420 million pounds of carbon dioxide emissions by funding clean energy and GHG reduction projects throughout the U.S., including wind farms and biomass energy. All TerraPass greenhouse gas reductions are certified by an independent auditor, the nonprofit Center for Resources Solutions, creator of the Green-e renewable energy certification program and independently verified by third party auditors.
