All Proceeds from Sales of Hazard Disclosure Reports in Fire-Devastated Counties Will Go to the American Red Cross for Immediate Assistance to Homeowners

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 25 -- National Disclosure Authority (NDA), the most technologically and environmentally advanced hazard disclosure company in the country, has announced a program of assistance to Southern California homeowners in areas that have been devastated by the October fires, some of which are still raging.

Homeowners are alerted that, effective immediately, all proceeds of NDA's sales of disclosure reports in San Diego and San Bernardino Counties will be donated to the American Red Cross to provide prompt assistance to fire victims.

"We've got our entire Inland Empire staff, led by Regional Sales Director Phat Phan, and all Company resources, working with various organizations in the Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear areas collecting food and clothes for the victims of the fires and delivering the donations to the emergency shelters. In San Diego, NDA's efforts are being led by Regional Sales Director Kellsey O'Hagan, focusing primarily on assisting families and the elderly at Mira Mesa High School and Qualcomm Stadium," said NDA CEO and founder Sergio Siderman. "Business continues throughout these fire ravaged counties, so in addition to dedicating our entire staff and arsenal of resources in those areas to the recovery effort, we are proud to also be donating all the proceeds from our San Diego and San Bernardino operations to benefit the recovery effort," he added.

NDA represents a "new generation" of 21st-century hazard disclosure reports, which use geographic information technology to achieve the most thorough and precise reports available in the residential and commercial real estate industries. The company is also passionately committed to environmental responsibility. The NDA "Green Team" practices green conservation in every aspect of its activities, and every time a client orders a paperless report, NDA plants a baby tree. In light of the thousands of trees being destroyed by the fires in Southern California, NDA will intensify these efforts towards reforestation.

About National Disclosure Authority (NDA)

National Disclosure Authority (NDA), established in 2007, is a group of highly experienced professionals who use state-of-the-art technology to provide the most thorough and precise hazard disclosure reports available in the industry. Based in Santa Monica, Calif., NDA is the only independent disclosure company in the nation completely dedicated to the preservation and improvement of the environment. Among other "green" activities, the company plants a sapling for every paperless report it generates.
